Facebook, How to Get started Safely

Sunday, March 16: Many people do not use Facebook for several reasons. Many are extremely concerned about their privacy and fearful of sharing information with the wrong people. Most of these people are not aware of how they can enjoy Facebook and limit their vulnerabilities and exposure. Hewie Poplock will show the many favorable uses of Facebook, and how you can connect easily to many old and new friends and places. He will also show how to use Facebook's settings to protect your information, while enjoying the service. He will show you how you can be a "lurker" or be active and yet be safe.

This presentation is aimed at those not using Facebook. However, those who do use it will gain some insights and will update their settings knowledge, as well as be helpful to those around them who have been hesitant to join Facebook.

Earlier on the same day of each presentation, the WINDOWS Special Interest Group (SIG) meeting is held. The WinSIG always meets at 12:30 pm, and is hosted by Hewie Poplock, former president of both CFCS and FACUG, and author of Hewie's Views and Reviews. Hewie will start at 12:30, just before the CFCS General Meeting. If you use or plan to use Windows, these discussions, demonstrations, and Q&A sessions will be of immense value to you. Geared to intermediate level Windows users, tips, tricks, and information on all versions of Windows are discussed. An e-newsletter is sent

Sunday's Windows SIG topics:

- * How I changed Hard drives & up & running quickly & easily
- * How I determined which driver caused a Blue Screen of Death (BSOD)
- * Windows 7 & 8 Tips about Memory Dump Files
- * Tweaks available in Ultimate Windows Tweaker for Windows 8.1
- * Some Things that Every Windows PC Owner Must Do
- * Windows Sysinternals

Bring your questions about Windows or any computer questions to be fielded by a room full of computer enthusiasts. The questions will be answered during the Windows SIG or during the "Askit Baskit" portion of the main meeting. We even have a few lurking Mac owners, and when we turn off the lights to better view the presentations, you may notice the glow of numerous iPods in the crowd. CFCS was the first to put the 'YOU' in USER-friendly!

Don't forget to list your items for sale on CFCS' new SIG!

Officially classified as a Special Interest Group (SIG) chaired by Mike Ungerman (whose brainchild it is), OUR NEW sig is actually a new Google Group email feature that will allow members (only) to post any items they may have for sale or items that they would like to purchase or trade. Similar to the existing CFCS Tech-SIG and CFCS iSIG groups, members of the group may send an email to the group address, and it will be sent out to other members either as an immediate email or as a daily digest of emails from that day.

Membership in the group is limited to CFCS members only, so we won't be getting spam listings. Any members desiring to take advantage of an offer or request will be doing so between themselves. CFCS is not a party to the transaction, nor a mediator if there is a dispute over an item or payment. There are no restrictions as to what a member may post to sell, so perhaps it's time to clear out that garage, back room, attic, etc. You can even announce a garage sale if you want to get rid of a lot of stuff!

To join the group, click or enter this URL into your browser:

OUR OTHER SPECIAL INTEREST GROUPS (SIG)

The ACCESS, MS OFFICE, and SECURITY SIGs meet conjointly on the second Wednesday of each month from 7 to 9 pm at the New Horizons Learning Center at 1221 Lee Rd. Arvin Meyer, a Microsoft MVP (Most Venerated Professional), leads the SIG. <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cfcs-access> This is a combination of three separate SIGs which now meet conjointly.

The VIRTUAL DIGITAL PHOTO & VIDEO SIG lead has been assumed by Hewie Poplock and and it meets on the 3rd Wednesday of every month,* by invitation. To register go to <https://apcug.ilinc.com/perl/ilinc/lms/event.pl> Choose Virtual Photo SIG.

The TECH DISCUSSION SIG meets on the fourth Tuesday of each month* from 7 to 9 pm at the World Gourmet Restaurant, 800 E. Altamonte Dr. (436) SIG leader is Vice President Stan Wallner.

This SIG is a non-structured, open conversational group for CFCS members, that has no specific topic or speaker, but is simply a round table discussion. It is not an advanced group, but a place for people to come and discuss various tech subjects, such as new products and technologies, hardware, software, web-related, etc.

Bring in articles from magazines, newsletters, unusual problems/situations that have arisen, questions, etc. Also, new or ailing devices or notebook pc's are welcome, either for "show and tell" or discussion or demo of situations.

A screen and projector are available, but not always there. If you want it to demo something, please E-mail: tech-sig@cfcs.org a day or 2 ahead.

Another feature of this SIG is the Tech-SIG Yahoo Group mail. We now have 64 people communicating through this, with tips and tricks, "Ask-It Basket" type questions, etc. Also, a second, on-line VIRTUAL meeting of the TechSIG is being experimented with on the second Tuesday of each month. Co-hosted by Mike Unger and Stan Wallner, it may attract a long distance audience. Stay tuned to the e-Blast for times and details - it is not yet permanently scheduled, but will be announced in the e-BLAST and on the Tech-SIG Yahoo Group mail. If you are not on that list and want to be, please E-mail: tech-sig@cfcs.org

The iSIG meets on the third Monday of each month at 7:00 PM at Florida United Safety Council, 1505 East Colonial Drive, Orlando FL 32803. This building is located across from the Publix on Colonial Drive in the Colonialtown section of downtown Orlando. They have secured WiFi, and vending machines are available. The iSIG meetings cover the products that use the iOS, which includes the iPhone, iPad, and iPod Touch. This is a combined effort of the Central Florida Computer Society <http://www.cfcs.org> and the Florida Macintosh Users Group <http://www.flmug.com>. Other groups are invited to participate. Attendees are consumers, developers, consultants, and publishers, who find common interests and discuss how to handle topics from both the consumer & the developer perspectives. The SIG leader is Sean Kane, Certified Apple Technical Coordinator, long-time Mac and iOS user, and a technologist and consultant to The Walt Disney Company.

The Recycle Bin

by Stan Wallner,
President Emeritus, CFCS

Stan, a CFCS member since 1984, has served in many offices over the years, and is now Vice President. Separately, he is a local IT consultant, "PC Doctors Make House Calls," offering his services on-site, at your office or home - for PC and Laptop Upgrades, WiFi, Networks, Virus & Spyware removal, Troubleshooting both hardware & software, at reasonable rates (discounts for CFCS members!). You can contact him at smwallner@yahoo.com or 407-862-2669.

Recycling is a MOST important issue regarding our environment, and can't be over-emphasized! It is an area that is changing frequently, so check for this column regularly! When there are changes, we will print them. Meanwhile, check the website at cfcs.org for the column as it ran in the last issue of the BUSSLINE.

Our Communications Skills - Getting Better With Technology? - OR, "I Could Have Phoned You But I Chose Not To..."

I've recently heard an amazing statistic - over 80% of 12 to 18 year olds have Smart Phones! We've all seen the cartoons and U-Tube things where a number of teens (or older) are at a restaurant texting away, and the punch line is that they are texting to each other, rather than talking to each other! And, the 300 or more texts PER DAY that some kids do!

We all know that Texting, Facebook, Twitter, and EMail are gaining in usage, but there is growing concern that the changes in how we communicate with each other is not really improving things at all.

The quote "I Could Have Phoned You But I Chose Not To ..." is from a standup bit by Jerry Seinfeld on the recent 2nd "Late Night With Jimmy Fallon" show. He went on for some length about this as is his forte, very amusing and wryly as I am sure you can imagine. I wish I had taken some notes! His point was that every Text, Tweet, that one gets is a result of the sender saying 'I

MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL

Membership renewal invoices will be e-mailed from treasurer@cfcs.org approximately thirty (30) days prior to your membership expiration. Invoices will be snail mailed to members for whom there is no e-mail address in the membership database and to those members whose e-mail was returned to treasurer@cfcs.org for any reason. Please help us by adding this address to your contacts list and setting your spam filter to let our message get to your inbox. We do not share your e-mail address with others (We hate that too!), but it is necessary for full participation in the Society, including receiving your newsletter.

Members will be requested to renew their membership by paying dues on time. Dues may be paid by cash or check at the meeting, by PayPal at <http://www.cfcs.org/membership/membership.php> or by mailing a check to:

CFCS

Address: PO Box 520084,
Longwood, FL 32752

If you do not receive a renewal invoice, lose it or have questions about your dues and or membership status, please inquire at the sign-in table or send an e-mail to: treasurer@cfcs.org.

Membership Cards: A new membership postcard with the membership card included for the next year will be distributed at the meeting following your renewal. The Cards will be mailed to those members who request same by e-mail to treasurer@cfcs.org.

Could Have Phoned You But I Chose Not To ... "which is really quite scary.

Just a few days after this show, the 3/3/14 Orlando Sentinel had a very interesting front page article by Kate Santich: "Dating in The Digital Age - Well, It's Complicated." (On-line at goo.gl/wL3BGV.) It discussed how much things have changed, using Apps, Facebook , etc., to meet people, how marriage and kids are being postponed, etc.

What really struck me was the following:

"And, it turns out, there are more singles to explore than ever.

A third of the U.S. adult population is now uncoupled, the largest percentage ever, and in Central Florida singles are the majority. Fifty-four percent of Metro Orlando's 1.8 million adults are single, divorced, widowed

"We're on totally new ground — not only historically but anthropologically," says Justin Garcia, an evolutionary biologist and researcher at The Kinsey Institute at Indiana University. "We don't know of any other species that has so many single adults. Humans are moving in and out of relationships in totally new ways."

Well, I wish I had more time (and space) to pursue this, because it seems quite ominous to me. I have 2 grandkids, 2 1/2 and 1 1/2 years old, and both know how to use their parents iPhones - view pictures, swipe, pinch, start WMV's, etc. Very adorable, but I have to wonder if this all might not be less than beneficial as they get older.

Worth considering and discussing, I think. Agree?

Using Surveys

By Hewie Poplock

I have always felt that a survey was a great way to find out information. A survey for planning an event gives you a good idea of what attendees might be expecting if they spend time or money to attend. After an event, a meeting, or a presentation, a survey can help gauge the success, the true thoughts of the attendees, and the direction for the next one.

The questions in a survey need to be well thought out. The items to cover, the type of questions, and the number of questions need to be determined by the makeup of your respondents. There are several types of questions and many people do not like to have to write their answers. They want to choose from a list. If your group is that way, leave one text box available for comments, but make the other questions include several options. The options can be a choice of only one or checking several from a list.

The art of creating surveys is in the wording of the questions. Be sure that your questions are explained well and the answers will give you meaningful results. I recently created a survey that contained several questions. For some of the desired information, I separated two similar items. Once I started to get responses, I realized that the data was conflicting, and had I made them one question, I would have had valuable information. The two questions did not give me results needed to make it useful.

Spend time composing your questions and possible responses. Make sure that your directions are clear. If you use a sliding scale and ask the respondents to choose a point between two responses, such as "low to high" or "not important to very important", decide how many items will be in the scale and explain the meaning of each level. You might use 3 levels, 5 levels or even 10, but explain what each might mean to the survey taker.

Plan your survey prior to the event or meeting. Have it ready at its conclusion. You might tie an incentive to filling out the form, such as a drawing, a promise of the results being posted or emailed, etc. If some of the attendees are not computer or web savvy, have printed forms available as well.

For years, I used Survey Monkey <https://www.surveymonkey.com/> to create surveys. While they do offer a free service, it is quite limited unless you pay a monthly subscription fee. There are several other free choices. They include

Google Forms <http://www.google.com/drive/apps.html>

Typeform <http://www.typeform.com/>

SurveyPlanet <https://www.surveyplanet.com/>

Soorvey <http://soorvey.com/en/>

One of my favorite websites, MakeUseOf, posted a great article about these services which listed the features of each. <http://bit.ly/1lsHn42> Their advice is "When creating an online survey, just remember to keep it short and to the point. If it's too long, users may be discouraged from completing it. If it isn't focused, you may not gain much good out of it."

I recently used Google Forms to create a survey for the first time. I was quite impressed with the ease of creation and the quality of the report that it generates.

Google Offers 60 Million Pages of Old Newspapers

By Ira Wilsker

WEBSITES:

<http://news.google.com/newspapers>

<http://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/newspapers/>

While I am not a fan of the Google search engine, and avoid the common expression, "Google It", I continue to be impressed by the many services offered, mostly for free, by Google. One free Google service that I have recently used is its free library consisting of over 60 million scanned newspaper pages from newspapers all over the world. The menu of available scanned newspapers is at news.google.com/newspapers, which has newspapers as old as from the 19th century. While Google has discontinued the digital scanning of old newspapers, those papers already scanned are still available.

Unfortunately, none of our local newspapers were included in this massive Google undertaking, but using Google's well known mastery of search technology, it is reasonably simple to search these 60 million newspaper pages for content. As a quick test of the Google newspaper search capabilities, I entered the term "Beaumont, Tex" in the Google News search box, and then selected "Search Archive"; Google reported 8,630 newspaper pages with a tagline of "Beaumont, Tex". Reading just a few of the search results displayed provided interesting historical accounts of events in Beaumont. One very cute result, which was included in dozens of the results, was the nationally syndicated "Pet Doctor" column, which had a byline, "Address questions to: Dr. T. M. Eagle, 2570 N. 11th Street, Beaumont, Tex. 77703." The first of several "Pet Doctor" columns I read were published in the "Reading (PA) Eagle" in 1973.

Other historical newspaper reports about Beaumont included contemporary reporting of the racial tensions and violence that took place in Beaumont in the 1950s. A news report published in the Sarasota (FL) Journal on January 30, 1957, described three racially motivated bombings that occurred, one of which damaged St.

PET DOCTOR

Address questions to: Dr. T. M. Eagle, 2570 N. 11th St., Beaumont, Tex. 77703

Suddenly my kitty has started to sneeze something terrible. Not only that, but its eyes are running some. Do cats get dog distemper?

No, cats do not get dog distemper nor do dogs get cat distemper. The word distemper dates back to Egyptian times and means any disease in which there is a nasal discharge. The two most common respiratory diseases of cats is feline viral rhinotracheitis and infectious feline pneumonitis, either of which will cause sneezing. Rhinotracheitis means inflammation of the nose and trachea. When the air passages of the nose become inflamed, along with the resulting irritation, the uncontrollable reflex action of sneezing is nature's way of clearing out the nose. If kitty is allowed loose in the neighborhood it probably picked up either disease from his playmates. Only your veterinarian on close examination and blood count can differentiate and treat these conditions. Don't wait too long because either disease could be fatal. Dust allergy is another nose problem.

We seem to have trouble obtaining catnip. Can we grow this as a plant? Could we have some information about catnip?

Yes you can obtain some catnip seed from seed companies. In fact it can be preferable raw. The problem is to get the calcium in some form of food that won't dilute in the water. Turtles can be taught to drink milk, a wonderful source of calcium. Egg shell pieces in the water or on his island will help some. Try him on any form of whole fish with plenty of bones, preferably raw. Calcium powder can be incorporated in the meat chunks. Slowly the shell should become solid again. Don't wait, you can lose turtles with soft shells.

Our 10-year-old spayed female dog has arthritis so bad in the hind legs it can hardly get up and down. Someone told us they could give injections into the joints and cure this. What do you say about it?

I say see your veterinarian and first have a positive diagnosis. This will require that X-ray pictures be taken of all the joints, including the hip joint of both hind legs. We like to have pictures of the good leg to make comparison with the bad. We should have a complete blood count to determine the presence of any hidden infection elsewhere in the body. Remember too, your dog is now a senior canine citizen and should be treated as such. No more sleeping on concrete, being left outside during cold damp weather, long walks and romping periods. Some dogs enjoy a good romp with the owner to the extent they will over do it. The doctor may prescribe special senior dog diets and drugs to make the retirement years easier.

My favorite pointer dog is having another battle with nephritis. Could you tell me how to prevent this from happening?

Nephritis is the inflammation of the kidney. When this happens, the kidney is unable to remove urea waste products from the blood. If this is allowed to continue, you could lose your dog from uremic poisoning. Your dog should have periodic blood urea laboratory rechecks. Then you can start treatment long before it gets serious. We have special diets which have the proper amount of easily digested protein. Some dogs must use this diet for the remainder of their lives. We have other drugs to combat the inflammation of the kidney. Some cases require X-ray examination of both kidneys for malfunction. The removal of one kidney might be necessary. Dogs that just are not doing well, tire easily, and have poor hair coats should be checked for nephritis.

"Santa Claus", which is actually a houseboat named "Texas Girl" 51 weeks a year, sailed on December 23 on its annual Christmas voyage through the bayous and marshes of Southeast Texas and Louisiana. Carrying a load of toys, the "Santa Claus" is sponsored by the executives and foremen of an unnamed oil company. Called in the article "a substitute for Saint Nicholas

Michael's Orthodox Church. The article went on to explain that these bombings were among the racial animus that wracked the area following the federal court ordered integration of Lamar State College of Technology the previous September (1956), and the fact that the public schools in Beaumont were still segregated. Among those interviewed in this story were Reverend Mr. Eugene Dickey, pastor of the Highland Avenue Baptist Church, who stated, "(these bombings are) just a preview of things to come if the racial question gets any worse." Reverend Dickey then urged the Beaumont City Council to take a stand on the issue.

Changing my search term to "Port Arthur, Tex" yielded 7,860 news stories about Port Arthur. One of the first stories displayed in those search results was a page from the April 4, 1969, Reading (PA) Eagle. This story described a Port Arthur court case heard by Justice of the Peace Bud Emmons, who fined 10 Cornell University students $100 each for skinny dipping at a nearby beach; all 10 plead guilty to charges of indecent exposure and vagrancy. The JP was quoted as saying to the Cornell students, "We're paying $50,000 a year to keep this beach going, and we're going to keep it respectable. The hippies are not going to take it over as long as I'm here."

In another Port Arthur story, published in the Pittsburgh (PA) Press on Christmas Eve, 1937, the yacht

Two Women Killed By Rifle Fire At Beaumont, Tex.

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Two women were killed by rifle fire at an apartment house here Tuesday and police quickly arrested the man who says he fired the fatal shots.

The man, father of a local policeman, was quoted by police as saying he killed the two women because one had him arrested and both laughed at him when he was jailed.

Killed were Alpha Bell Hill, 49, a nurse's aide here; and Elsie Hufstutter, 48.

Thomas Jefferson Jones, 57, was ordered held without bond on murder charges after a daughter called police and told them "dad-dy says he has killed two women."

Jones was arrested at the home of the daughter, Mrs. J. O. Rexses, about an hour after the shooter a high-speed police chase. Officials identified him as John F. Billcliff, 19, of 6 Henry St. Revere, Mass.

A 90-mile-an-hour police chase ended in North Conway yesterday when the car being pursued by state troopers crashed.

Three of the occupants were injured and hospitalized, but a fourth slipped away in the confusion.

Reported improved at the hospital were Carolyn Mallette, 14, of Boston; Patricia Kane, 15, of Boston; and Harold V. Sargent, 19, formerly of Rumford, Maine Coulee Dam area, dated Thursday, July 30, 1959, Port Arthur is listed in the "Americana" column as a "City to See." Under an almost undecipherable photo of Port Arthur is the caption, "Founded at the behest of "brownies" by a gentleman railroad builder and backed by a legend including an Indian princess by the name of Kisselpoo, Port Arthur, Texas, remains even in this day a unique city." The story under the photo explains the history and economy of Port Arthur, starting with Arthur Stillwell ending his railroad at what is now Port Arthur. Stillwell explained his reasons for stopping his railroad at Port Arthur on the legend of Princess Kisselpoo, who ran off with her lover the night before her arranged marriage to another man. The moon goddess was so angered, that she caused a great hurricane upon Lake Sabine, which destroyed the Indian village. The moon goddess also decreed that the lake (Sabine) should disappear from the earth, a decree that continues into modern times since rivers deposit silt into the lake, filling it up. the article goes on to describe Port Arthur as an industrial center with a population near 100,000, and how it is the "City that Oils the World." Being one of the world's major oil ports, Port Arthur has foreign consulates in the city.

A judge said Thursday so long as he was on the bench, there would be no skinny dipping on the beach. Justice of the Peace Bud Emmons fined 10 Cornell University students $100 each for a nude wade-in staged in this Gulf Coast city earlier in the week. "We're paying $50,000 a year to keep this beach going, and we're going to keep it respectable," he told the fully clothed group standing before him Thursday. "The hippies are not going to take it over as long as I'm here." The students had entered a mass plea of guilty to charges of indecent exposure and vagrancy.

The post office will begin phasing out its guaranteed same day delivery service in the major downtown business centers of 234 cities April 15 with an anticipated annual saving of $1 million a year, it was learned Thursday. The service, called ABCD for accelerated business selection and delivery, was begun in 1962 and completed in 1964. But postmasters in the major cities almost unanimously reported a declining interest in recent years, a spokesman said. Twenty-eight cities abandoned it between November, 1967, and last December.

Tex Ritter, a legend

By PATRICK CARR

On Friday, January 4, in Nederland, Texas, country music personalities and boyhood friends gathered to bury another member of the Grand Ole Opry.

This time, so soon after the tragic death of Stringbean, it was old Tex himself; Tex Ritter, who died of a heart attack during the night of January 2 in Nashville while visiting a friend in the county jail. Tex was born in Nederland. Had he lived another 10 days, he would have been 68.

To most Americans he'll be remembered as a movie personality from the days of the singing cowboys of the B movies, when he, Roy Rogers, Gene Autrey and a dozen others fought for a simple, just law with braces of gleaming Colts, but to the country music community there other things.

The movies were a long time ago, and in his later years Tex was more of a music-maker and Nashville elder statesman than a cowboy hero. He was very much involved in country music, performing and recording until the end; and as a personality, well...everybody and his uncle has a Tex Ritter story. He was far from bland. Tex was a man who didn't mind letting you know how he felt about something.

He was a strong man and a learned one. Had things turned out differently, he might have been a lawyer. He went pretty humane.

For instance, when he was running for that Senate seat, he was very concerned with the issue of drug abuse. It would have been easy for him to take a hard line and pick up votes from his natural constituency, but he took the stance that the drug user should be helped, not punished.

He was no stick-in-the-mud. Just before his death, someone asked him what he thought about the way country music was going: He replied that he thought the work of Kris Kristofferson, Tom T. Hall, and Shel Silverstein — "liberals" all — to be the healthiest thing going on in country music today.

He was a figure of awesome stature in Nashville, a man elected to the Country Music Hall of Fame and the Songwriters Hall of Fame before his death. He served two terms as president of the Country Music Association, one term as vice-president, and to Capitol Records — for whom he recorded throughout his professional career — he was quite literally the cornerstone of their organization.

He came to Capitol at the beginning, when Jimmie Rodgers and Gene Autrey were the big sellers in the recording industry, and he stayed.

Woodward Maurice Ritter was a hero, no matter how you look at it. In the public eye of a generation of boys, he was a

It is not necessary to search for individual stories or topics, as complete newspapers can be easily read on Google. In addition to contemporary and detailed accounts of historical events, the advertisements in old newspapers can be both educational and entertaining. Somewhat at random, I opened the Lawrence, Kansas, "Jeffersonian Gazette", dated April 3, 1899. Will Spalding, a haberdasher, was selling all wool, elegant men's suits for $5.90, $7.50, and $10. C. J. Eriksen was selling gasoline powered kitchen stoves along with a variety of other household items and furniture. Ober's, a men's store had a pair of ads for men's suits and boy's clothing that were clearly in competition with Will Spalding's offerings. Ober's was offering, "Absolute ALL WOOL MATE-

NEDERLAND, Tex., Nov. 29 (UP) — An explosion ripped through a cracking unit of the Pure Oil Co. late tonight, setting off a spectacular fire visible 12 miles away.

Rescue workers at the burning plant refused to talk to newsmen, saying "this is an emergency."

Searching for 'Nederland, Tex" and clicking the "Search Archive" button displayed 1080 news stories. Many of the news stories were about one of Nederland's favorite sons, Tex Ritter. Several of these stories were obituaries from around the world citing his birth in Nederland, and details about his career. Other Nederland stories included a tanker-train wreck in Nederland, reported in the Sunday, January 13, 1974, Victoria (TX) Advocate. Another Nederland story published in the Victoria Advocate on March 22, 2000, was on Billy Neal, "Texas' Longest Tenured Police Chief", which described his 40 years as the Nederland police chief; originally he was a school teacher in Vidor, and a truck driver, who never thought that he would make a career of law enforcement. Another Nederland news story was published in the Toledo (OH) Blade, on November 30, 1952, describing a horrific refinery explosion at the Pure Oil refinery. "All ambulances from Beaumont, Port Arthur, Nederland, and Port Neches were called." At the time of the report,

Create a link within a Word Document

by Hewie Poplock

A member of my user group asked, "How do you put a web address into a link? I get a dialog with all sorts of choices, but none to just make it a link!"

If you just want to include a link in Word, type in the complete link. After you enter it, hit the space bar and Word will make it a link. However, if you have a phrase or a sentence that you want to use as a link to a website, here are the steps.

With the Word document open, highlight the word, phrase or sentence.

When you right mouse click you will get a menu of choices.

Highlight the line that says “Hyperlink...”

Click for the Link Dialog box

In the address box, type or paste in the Link address (URL) and click ok.

You will now have the desired link.

That's it.

Over the past several weeks, I have taken several out-of-town road trips. On these trips I used a novel free smart phone app for routing and traffic information called Waze (waze.com). There are an abundance of apps that function with the integral GPS built into almost all smart devices, including smart phones and tablets. Available for most smart devices with an appropriate wireless internet connection (cellular or Wi-Fi) running Android, iOS (Apple devices), Windows Mobile, Symbian, and Blackberry powered devices, Waze provides much more current routing and road related information than most other competitive apps.

For those who may drive outside the U.S., Waze is multinational in scope, and offers real-time traffic information on an international scale. According to Wikipedia, "As of 2013 Waze has a complete base map for the United States, Canada, United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, Netherlands, Belgium, Israel (claimed to be the best map for that country), South Africa, Colombia, Ecuador, Chile and Panama, but the company has plans to complete maps for other countries in Europe and elsewhere."

With the motto, "Waze. Outsmarting Traffic, Together", Waze describes itself as, "Get the best route, every day, with real-time help from other drivers. Waze is the world's largest community-based traffic and navigation app. Join other drivers in your area who share real-time traffic and road info, saving everyone time and gas money on their daily commute." With millions of users (Yahoo! reported over 50 million users in mid-2013), Waze utilizes real-time information from users who have opened the Waze app on their smart devices. Waze anonymously, continuously, and transparently reports location, speed, and other information to a centralized server, which in turn almost instantly compiles and displays this shared information on other Waze equipped smart devices in the same user selected area. For privacy and security reasons, by default, the Waze configuration utilizes a user chosen screen name and avatar on the remote screens, and does not publically display any other personally identifiable user information.

While several other route mapping apps simply display traffic conditions as a colored line on a map, typically green indicating that traffic is moving fast, yellow indicates slowed traffic, and red indicating major traffic slowdowns or stoppage, Waze utilizes a different approach. Since the Waze app on the users' devices are continuously reporting speed and location, based on GPS information, accurate traffic information is displayed along with a wide assortment of other helpful and useful information. According to the Waze website, this difference between Waze and the other GPS based routing apps is, "Get alerted before you approach police, accidents, road hazards or traffic jams, all shared by other drivers in real-time. It's like a personal heads-up from a few million of your friends on the road."

For safety reasons, if Waze is used by the driver of a vehicle, the text input function is disabled once a destination is entered or selected off of a saved list. The driver can still be informed of upcoming traffic, hazards, and other reports, as well as audio turn-by-turn directions, without having to physically handle the device. There is an option button displayed where a passenger can enable the text based data entry process while the vehicle is in motion. In addition to the passive information on speed and other road information provided by the app itself, a passenger can actively contribute to the community of Waze users by using a simple icon based method of sharing road reports. These passenger entered road reports take the current location, as automatically provided by the GPS, along with manually entered information on accidents, traffic congestion and delays, disabled vehicles, speed traps, and other road hazards, which immediately show up on all other Waze connected devices in the area. In addition to road related information, users can also enter gas station prices observed on their route, which will be displayed to others driving through the same area. Waze says on its website, "By working together to report prices at the pump, Waze drivers can always save some gas money."

Too many of us have had to deal with outdated maps on our GPS or smart devices. While some newer free-standing GPS devices offer free quarterly updating of maps, many still charge substantial fees to purchase map updates. When using an internet based mapping service,

The 100 employees of the Israeli navigation app developer Waze stand to receive a total of $120 million, as a result of Google's acquisition of the company, making this the most lucrative exit ever for employees of an Israeli startup. The global search giant confirmed on Tuesday that it had agreed to purchase Waze for $1.15 billion.

it is often difficult (or impossible) for the user to either determine the age of the map displayed, or to enter map corrections, both of which may undermine the confidence of the user in the accuracy of the maps displayed. What is unusual about the maps displayed on Waze is that they are community edited; Waze has an active community of map editors who work continuously to improve and update the maps displayed by the Waze app. Map corrections and updates are constantly incorporated in the Waze display, down to the neighborhood level. These same community map editors also continuously improve the routing utility incorporated into the Waze app. Waze has made it as easy for any of the millions of users to submit suspected map errors or better routing information to the editors as it is to enter a road hazard; a single click on the appropriate icon, along with an appropriate comment, immediately sends the information to the map editors. For example, earlier today, while returning from Houston (my wife was driving), I submitted two suggested changes: the first was a suggested routing correction to my home address, submitting a shorter and faster route; the second was the location of a newly opened gas station.

While the information from users is anonymously displayed on the Waze display, using a moniker rather than a real name, users can also optionally select to send Waze information to selected individuals, or to post it on social networks, such as Facebook. On a recent out of town trip to visit a daughter and her family, I chose to provide her with a real-time web link that would display my current location and "ETA" (Estimated Time of Arrival). Since my wife was at the wheel at the time, it was safe for me to do the appropriate messaging. Clicking on the icon on the bottom-left corner of my screen, I selected the "notify" function, which presented me with a comprehensive list of messaging utilities; text messaging, email, Facebook, and several other modes were displayed. I selected to send my daughter a private text message which included a Waze generated unique URL, which when opened in her browser, displayed my real-time location and ETA, which was continuously updated in her browser. This same function can also serve to notify someone who is going to be met or picked up by the Waze user of the expected time of arrival.

The posting of travel information to Facebook can be useful if a group is trying to arrange a get-together of some type, and all of the participants can be kept apprised of the others' locations and arrival times. While Waze supports posting of current location information to social networking services, such as Facebook, for security reasons, I cannot recommend this practice. Even if the social media post is only directed to friends, not all friends may be honest and trustworthy. Posting that a user is a distance away from home, and will not be returning for a lengthy period of time, opens that user's home to possible break-in and burglary, as the perpetrators will know that no one is home and no one is likely to be home for a foreseeable time.

The Waze app has a most interesting history; originally invented in Israel in 2008 by a small group of developers as, "a GPS-based geographical navigation application program for smart phones with GPS support and display screens which provides turn-by-turn information and user-submitted travel times and route details, downloading location-dependent information over the mobile telephone network." Waze was recognized by the 2013 Mobile World Congress as the "Best Overall Mobile App", beating out several better known apps such as Dropbox. The original company, Waze Mobile, was acquired by Google in mid-2013 for the princely sum of $1.3 billion, after being approached by other prominent internet giants, including Facebook. According to contemporary news accounts, "As part of the deal signed, each of Waze's 100 employees will receive an average of about $1.2 million, which represents the largest payout to employees in the history of Israeli high tech." (source: haaretz.com, June 13, 2013).

While the Waze app is totally free to download and use, its business model is funded in a variety of ways. Waze offers advertisers an opportunity to place a very small, unobtrusive icon on a given location, which may encourage Waze users to patronize that location. Waze also sells its aggregate traffic conditions and reports to media outlets, mostly TV stations, for their use in broadcasting current local traffic information. Utilized by several New York and New Jersey TV stations, the Waze feed is also employed (as of June 2013) by over 25 other U.S. TV stations, as well as foreign TV stations, including one in Rio de Janeiro.

Provided that a driver is not distracted by its use, the free Waze app is an outstanding resource. Waze also asks that the app be used to monitor daily commutes, in addition to longer trips, so that others may get the enhanced benefit of a greater knowledge base of road information. Over the past several weeks, I have used Waze on my smart phone rather than Google Maps and the other road routing apps that I have installed. Waze uses the de-

Case Conversion in Word

By Hewie Poplock

A member of my user group asked "How do you change an all caps sentence to normal leading cap and lower case in Word?"

Here is the answer. You have a document or a paragraph that you have pasted in your document this is in all caps. Although I have always used a 3rd party software that I would copy the paragraph and paste it into the other program, I then had it do a case conversion and did a copy & paste back. Mike's question forced me to figure out how to do it within Word. It is easy.

First, we have the document with all caps.

In the ribbon, Find the Change Case dropdown.

Highlight the sentence/paragraph(s) in question. Make the choice from the dropdown menu. In this situation, we are choosing "Sentence case."

Your selection is now changed. Be sure to save before closing.

Your change is complete.

HelpLine

HelpLine is a free service to members of CFCS only. The following volunteers have offered to field questions by phone or via e-mail with software and hardware problems listed below. Please be considerate of the volunteer you are calling.

As a free service, you should not be asked to pay for help or be solicited for products or services. If anything to the contrary occurs, please contact the HelpLine coordinator immediately. Their names will be removed from the list.

Additional volunteers are needed in some existing categories and for new categories. If you are interested, please contact the HelpLine coordinator at e-mail: helpline@cfcs.org

Please Note - This is a service for CFCS MEMBERS ONLY
